PREFACE.

GLORIOUS PRAISE contains Mr. Showalter's "New Rudiments of Music," as published in "Singer's Ideal," which has met with such universal favor among the progressive class teachers and convention conductors of America. It also contains One Hundred and Sixty pieces of music (more than is found in the average 75 cent books), representing more than fifty composers, among whom we may mention Stephen Adams, John Carver Alden, J. A. Butterfield, George D. Buchanan, Dr. J. B. Dykes, L. O. Emerson, L. M. Evilsizer, Sir George J. Elvey, C. H. Gabriel, S. C. Hanson, George Fred. Handel, J. F. King, Dr. L. Mason, William H. Monk, W. H. Morris, Edwin Moore, J. L. Moore, Rev. W. S. Martin, B. M. McDowell, L. B. Mitchell, H. K. Oliver, W. H. Pontius, S. J. Perry, E. Roberts, F. L. Robertshaw, J. H. Rosecrans, Dr. G. F. Root, R. H. Randall, A. J. Showalter, Henry Schoeller, J. H. Tenney, W. G. Tomer, and twenty-five others.

Mr. L. O. Emerson has been an especially large contributor, and we are sure that his excellent compositions will please his thousands of friends and pupils.

Thanking all who have in any way aided us in the preparation of GLORIOUS PRAISE, we send it forth on its mission of song, respectfully inscribed to the earnest teachers of America, trusting that they will find it a valuable help in their laudable efforts to "make His praise glorious" by teaching the people to "sing with the spirit and with the understanding also."

NEW

RUDIMENTS OF MUSIC.

Sound is anything audible.

If the vibrations producing the sound are irregular, mere noise is the result. If the vibrations are regular, and of sufficient rapidity, then a musical sound or Tone is produced.

A tone has four properties, viz: Pitch, the name for the lowness or highness of a tone; Length, the name for the duration of a tone; Power, the name for the loudness or softness, or audibility of a tone, and Quality, the name for the kind or character of a tone.

The rudiments or elementary principles of music are divided into three departments, viz: Melodics, treating of the pitch of tones; Rhythmics, treating of the length of tones, and Dynamics, treating of the power and quality of tones.

Besides the four properties which are necessary to the existance of a tone, when different pitches are combined as in modern music, tones have another very important characteristic, and that is their individuality or mental effect.

The tone having the strongest and most marked individuality is the master-tone, the one around which all the others center. It has various names, sometimes being called "Tonic," sometimes "One," sometimes "Key-Tone," etc., but for the present we shall call it "Do." It is a strong, firm, restful tone.

Any pitch, either low or high, may be taken for this master-tone.

The tone next in importance, considered as to its individuality or mental effect, is a bright, joyous tone. It is sometimes called "Five," sometimes "Dominant," and sometimes "Sol." We shall use the latter name for the present.

As to its pitch, Sol is always the same distance from Do, so when the pitch of Do is changed, the pitch of Sol is changed also. This is true of all the other individual tones that we will learn.

Between the two tones already learned there is another tone which we shall call "Mi." It is also called "Three," and "Mediant." Like Do and Sol it is a restful tone, but it is neither so firm and strong as Do, nor so bright and joyous as Sol. It is a quiet, calm, beautiful tone.

We might liken the Do to a strong, firm man; the Sol to a joyous, happy child, and the Mi to a sweet, gentle woman.

These three tones, considered as to their mental effect, have the most marked individuality, and together form the Tonic Chord — the principal chord in modern music. Do is the Fundamental or Root of the chord; Mi is the Third, and Sol is the Fifth. These names apply to the different members of all three-toned chords.

Note to Teachers. Thorough drill should now be given upon these three tones. We give a few exercises as examples. The teacher should write many more. For this purpose a good roll blackboard is necessary. The publishers of this book can supply them. Use the syllable-names first, then la, loo, lo, tah, or other convenient syllables, and lastly, the words.

Some teachers think this a slow process, and prefer to give the whole scale, absolute and relative pitch-names, the staff with clefs, etc., all in the same lesson, but such "haste makes waste."

The tone next above Mi, like the one next below Do is a restless tone, but instead of the sharp, piercing effect of Ti, it has a desolate, awe-inspiring effect. This tone is sometimes called Four, and sometimes Sub-Dominant. For the present we shall call it Fa.

These seven individual tones, taken in regular order from the lowest to the highest, with the repetition of the Do an octave higher, form the Scale. They may also be reckoned from the Do downward, repeating the Do an octave lower, in which case they form the descending scale.

To represent these individual tones we use lines and spaces. Each line and each space is named a Degree. Eleven of these degrees, five lines and six spaces, form what is called the Staff. The lowest line is named First Line, the next line, Second Line, etc. The lowest space is named Space Below, meaning below the First Line; the next space is named First Space, the next Second Space, etc. A better naming for the spaces would be First Space for what is here called Space Below; Second Space for the next higher, and so on to the highest space, which would be called Sixth Space instead of space above. We prefer the new naming, but it may not be worth while to change from long-established usage in so unimportant a matter.

Sometimes more than the eleven degrees are needed, and when this is so short lines are added, called First Added Line Above, Second Added Line Above, First Added Line Below, Second Added Line Below, etc., etc.

Do may be represented by any line or space. When Do is represented by a line, Mi, Sol and Ti will also be represented by lines, while Re, Fa, La, and the upper Do will be represented by spaces. When Do is represented by a space, then Mi, Sol, and Ti will also be represented by spaces, while Re, Fa, La, and the upper Do will be represented by lines.

A tone about as long as a pulse-beat, or nearly a second of time, is called a Quarter, or Quarter Length.

A tone twice as long as a quarter is called a Half, or Half Length.

The characters which represent tone-lengths are called Notes. This note (♩) represents a quarter length, and is called a Quarter Note.

This note (𝅗𝅥) represents a half length, and is called a Half Note.

The notes indicate the relative lengths to be given to the tones, and the degrees upon which the notes are placed indicate the syllables to be sung, so it is only necessary at this stage of our work to say which degree we wish taken for Do.

Sometimes notes of different shapes are used for the different tones of the scale, thus simplifying the reading for beginners. It must be understood, however, that this simply helps in naming the tones; thinking the tones, the more difficult and more important part of reading, is the same, no matter what notation may be used. The superficial teacher teaches his pupils to read notes; the thorough teacher teaches his pupils to think music.

READING EXERCISES.

Note.—Practice these exercises thoroughly, singing slowly at first, then gradually faster until they can be sung quite rapidly. Use syllables first, then la. Change the pitch of the key-tone to suit the different numbers. It will help the singers to keep the time to tap the book lightly with the ends of the fingers, once for each quarter note and twice for each half note. This should not be continued too long, however.

So far we have been studying and thinking of tones as to their individuality or mental effect, and as to their relative position in the scale. The names we have been using are called the Italian Syllable names. These are used in singing and when we wish to speak of the individuality or mental effect of the tones. Numeral names, one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, are used when we wish to speak of the relative position, or Relative Pitch, of the tones of the scale.

In addition to these names, each tone used in music has a name to designate its particular pitch, regardless of its mental effect, or of its position in the scale. C is the name of a certain pitch, D of another, E of another, F of another, G of another, A of another, and B of another. These names are called Absolute Pitch names.

The degrees of the staff are made to represent the absolute pitches in a certain fixed way by the Clefs, of which there are three in common use. The Treble, or G clef, when placed upon the staff, makes the degrees represent the absolute pitches, as follows:

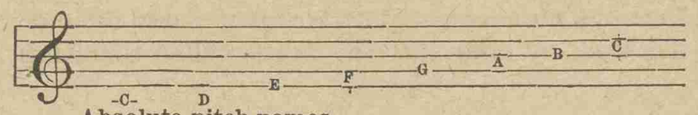

The absolute pitches, C, D, E, F, G, A, B, C, bear the same relation to each other as the individual tones of the scale. In other words, these absolute pitches form the scale when the pitch C is taken for Do.

The pitches that are used to make the scale form what is called a Key. They only make the scale when used in scale form, but they make a key when used in any form.

Key-Tone is another name for the first tone of the scale, so whatever pitch is taken for Do is key-tone, and the scale, exercise, or composition, is said to be in the key of whatever pitch is taken as key-tone.

The C represented by the added line below is called Middle C. The C represented by the third space is an octave higher, and is called Upper C.

The G clef represents the pitches which ladies sing. Their voices being an octave higher than gentlemen's voices, the gentlemen sing tones an octave lower than those represented by the G clef or Treble clef staff— sometimes called the Treble staff. Thus, instead of beginning with middle C they begin with the C an octave lower than middle C, which is called Lower C.

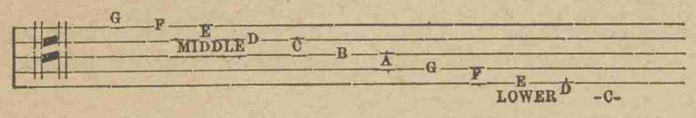

The C clef, or Tenor clef, makes the staff represent the pitches which gentlemen sing. With this clef middle C is represented by the third space and lower C by the added line below. This is called the Tenor staff.

As some gentlemen sing tones much lower than lower C, it becomes necessary to have a staff arranged for their voices. This is done with the use of the F or Bass clef, forming the Bass staff, with middle C represented by the added line above.

Before singing exercises in these different clefs, we wish to add another important feature to our work.

The regularity with which tones follow each other in music produces throbbings or pulsations in the mind of the performer or listener, which are often manifested by a motion of the head, hand, or foot. These pulsations are called Beats. Some beats are stronger than others, and are called Accented beats; the weaker beats are called Unaccented beats.

The music which corresponds to a group of two or more beats, the first of which is always accented; or the music which fills up the time of this group of beats, is called a Measure. The group of beats is usually called a measure, but it is only the mental measuring stick, so to speak, the real measure being the music itself. Written or printed music is divided into measures by Bars. A Broad bar is used at the end of a line, section, or period. A Double bar is used at the close or end of a composition.

If the music is so arranged as to cause the beats to flow in groups of twos, first accented and the second unaccented, it is in Double measure.

Giving the right length to each tone is called Keeping Time. Ultimately beats should be kept in the mind alone, but at first we are assisted in keeping time by counting the beats, called Counting Time, and by making a motion of the hand for each beat, called Beating Time. In double measure we count one, two, accenting the one; and beat down, up, making a stronger stroke for the down beat.

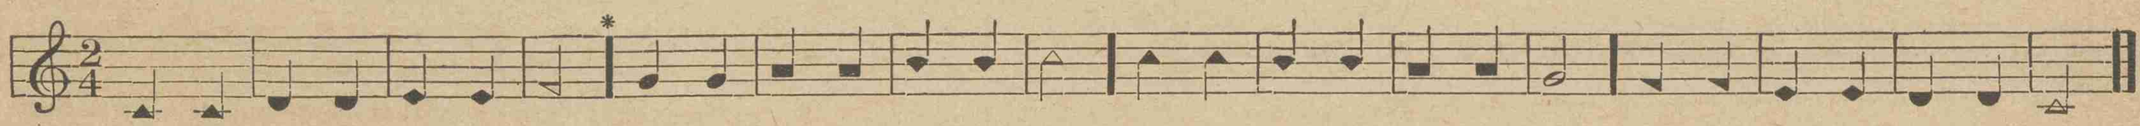

Figures in the form of a fraction are placed just after the clef as a measure sign or measure signature. The upper figure, in all the simple measures, indicates the number of beats in a measure; the lower figure, the kind of note that is taken as the beat-note.

Note.—In some books the lower figure is entirely omitted. In others a note is substituted for the lower figure. But these changes are of no consequence. When the musical world changes its present measure-signs it will not be to one of these, but will abandon the signs entirely. We have all laughed at the boy who drew a picture of a horse and added: "this is a horse." At present we write a piece of music in double measure and by a sign say: "this is double measure." But before we can omit the measure-sign we must adopt some one note as the beat-note. This should be the quarter note for the simple measures, and the dotted quarter for the compound measures. This rational plan is adopted in this book.

Let the pupils count and beat the time while the teacher sings, then let them sing while the teacher counts and beats the time. Let one-half count and beat while the other half sings, and vice versa; then let all sing while they beat the time, and finally let all sing and keep the beats in their minds only.

Syllables first, then la, and then the words, in the following exercises.

So far, we have used exercises in one part only, but the best music is in four parts. The lowest part is called Bass, and should be sung by gentlemen with low voices. The next higher part is called Tenor, and should be sung by gentlemen with high voices. The next higher part is called Alto, and should be sung by ladies with low voices. The highest part is called Soprano, or Treble, and should be sung by ladies with high voices. Boys whose voices have not changed should sing Alto or Soprano. A Brace connects all the parts that should be sung at the same time, and all the staves thus connected form a Score.

All Sunday-school singing-books, hymn and tune books and many other collections of music are printed with the music on two staves only, and, therefore, much of the music in this book is printed in this way, for the singing school is the place to learn how to sing in Sunday-school and church. If it is not correctly learned here it will probably not be learned at all.

There is a pitch midway between F and G. It is called F-sharp. When all the pitches in the Key of C except F are used, and F-sharp takes the place of F, a wonderful change takes place in the character of these pitches. G becomes the strong, firm tone, or Do; A becomes the rousing, hopeful Re; B becomes the quiet Mi; C becomes the awe-inspiring Fa; D becomes the bright, joyous Sol; E becomes the sad, wailing La, and F Sharp becomes the piercing, sensitive Ti, which leads to the key-tone G. This group of pitches, then, constitutes the key of G. The staff, as we have used it, represents the pitches which make the key of C, and also all that constitute the key of G, except F-sharp. To make the staff represent the Key of G completely, the degree which represents F in the key of C must be made to represent F-sharp. This is done by placing a Sharp (♯) on the degree which represents F. The sharp is placed immediately after the clef, and causes all the degrees of the staff which represent F, to represent F-sharp.

The condition of the staff at the right of the clef, is called the Key Signature, or sign of the key. The condition of the degrees of the staff when they represent the key of C is called Natural, therefore the signature of the key of C is Natural, while that of the key of G is One Sharp. By the expression "one sharp" it is implied that all the other degrees are natural.

A tune does not always remain in one key. Changing from one key to another in the same piece is called Modulation. A tune may modulate through many keys. G is the same pitch in all keys, although it is Sol in the key of C, and Do in the key of G.

When a degree that has been sharped is to be changed back to natural, a Natutal (♮) is placed upon it.

This is the key of F, and the signature is One Flat.

The difference of pitch between any two tones, is called an Interval. In the regular succession of the tones of the scale there are two kinds of intervals, the larger, called Steps, and the smaller, called Half-Steps. The intervals of the scale we have learned are as follows: From One to Two, a step; Two to Three, a step; Three to Four, a half-step; Four to Five, a step; Five to six, a step; Six to Seven, a step; Seven to Eight, a half-step.

This is the Diatonic Major Scale, and the tones are called Diatonic Tones. Between those diatonic tones which form the interval of a step there is an intermediate tone. These intermediate tones (five in number,) are called Chromatic Tones, and the scale composed of the diatonic and chromatic tones, is called the Chromatic Scale. The chromatic tones are represented by the same degrees which represent the diatonic tones, but modified by Sharps (♯), Flats (♭), Naturals (♮), Double Sharps (𝄪), and Double Flats (𝄫). These characters when used anywhere except in the signature, are called Accidentals. An accidental effects but one staff, and the rule should be one part of the music only, and continues its significance throughout the measure in which it occurs, unless changed by another accidental.

A chromatic tone is either a half-step lower or a half-step higher than the diatonic tone from which it derives its name, hence all accidentals mean a half-step higher or a half-step lower.

Which accidental is to be used depends upon the previous condition of the degree to be changed. A natural degree is changed to mean a half-step higher by a ♯; a sharped degree to a half-step higher by a 𝄪; a flatted degree to a half-step higher by a ♮; a double flatted degree to a half-step higher by a ♮♭. A natural degree is changed to mean a half-step lower by a ♭; a flatted degree by a 𝄫; a sharped degree by a ♮, and a double sharped degree by a ♮♯.

A group of three equal notes performed in the time of two of the same denomination (in the time of) is a Triplet. The figure 3 is generally placed over or under the notes to indicate the triplet. This is true of the measures (Simple measures) so far learned. If the triplets are continued throughout the tune, the beat note is the time value of a triplet (or or). In such cases the measure is called a Compound Measure, and the figure 3 is not used to indicate the triplet movement.

The Compound measures are the same as the Simple measures as to the number of beats produced, the counting and beating time, accent, etc. The only difference is the triplet movement or rhythm.

The usual sign for Compound Double measure is $\frac{6}{8}$, meaning that each measure must contain the time-value of six eighths.

The usual signs for Compound Triple and Compound Quadruple measures are $\frac{9}{8}$ and $\frac{12}{8}$. Like the signs for the simple measures, these signs could easily be omitted. We only need to look at a measure of printed music, or hear a measure of real music to know the kind of measure. The sign can be of no use except to the most elementary student.

When a tone commences on an unaccented beat of a measure, and is continued on an accented beat, the accent is transposed; such a tone is called a Syncopated Tone, and the note representing it is a Syncopated Note.

No. 46.

S. WEBBE.

For simpler exercises, see those pieces in the various departments of the book containing syncopated notes.

No. 47.

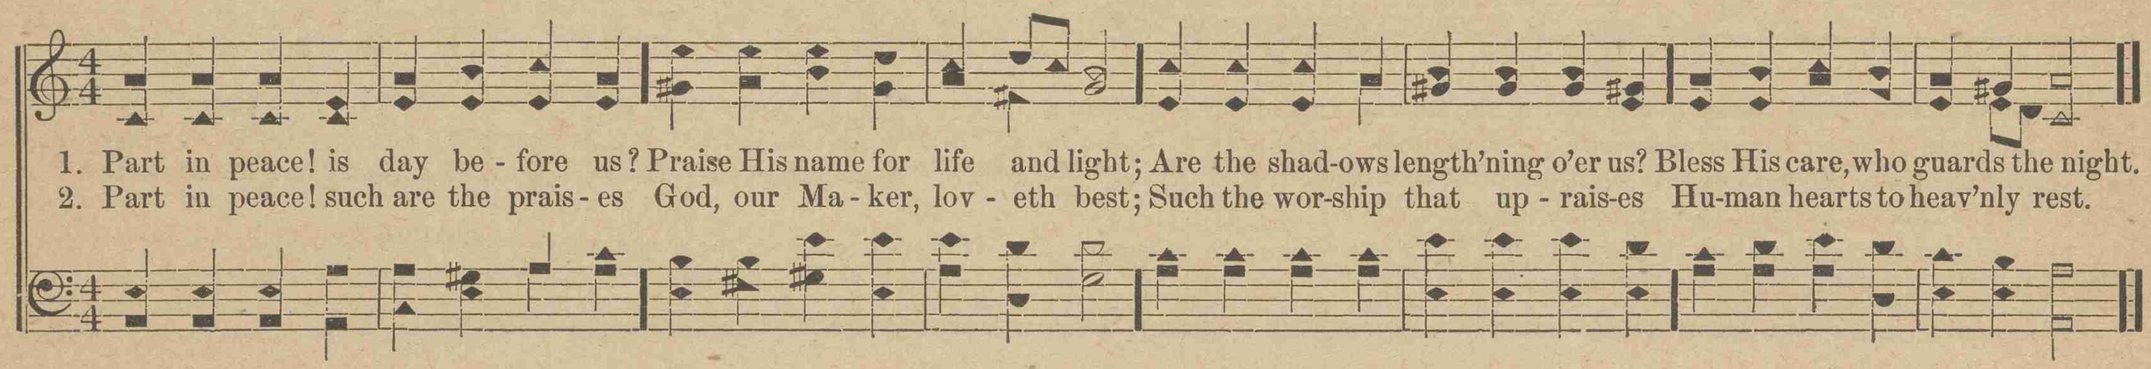

Sing this and notice that the pitch A, syllable La, makes a perfect ending; also that the music is of a sad character.

On this dark and gloom-y night, The wild wind howls in fu-rious blasts; O cheer-less, cheer-less is the drear-y night, the drear-y night.

Whatever pitch makes a perfect ending, becomes tonic, or key-tone. In the above exercise the pitch A, makes a perfect ending; hence the exercise is in the key of A, but it is without the F-sharp and C-sharp that are necessary to make the key of A, already learned. That was the key of A MAJOR; this is the key of A MINOR. Major keys are bright and cheerful; minor keys are sad and serious. The key of A Minor has the same pitches as the key of C Major, except that it has G-sharp instead of G. These two keys have so many tones in common, and follow each other so pleasantly, that they are called Related Keys. A Minor is the Relative Minor of C Major, and C Major is the Relative Major of A Minor.

The signatures of all minor keys are the same as their relative major keys. In major keys Do is key-tone or tonic; in minor keys La is key-tone or tonic. Sometimes the sixth tone of the minor scale is sharped, forming what is called the Melodic Minor Scale. This form is used only in an ascending passage, while the Harmonic Minor, as written in No. 47, is the same ascending and descending.

1. Part in peace! is day be-fore us? Praise His name for life and light; Are the shad-ows length'ning o'er us? Bless His care, who guards the night.
2. Part in peace! such are the prais-es God, our Ma-ker, lov-eth best; Such the wor-ship that up-rais-es Hu-man hearts to heav'nly rest.

Note to Teachers.— The next department contains a great variety of pieces for class and home practice. Many of the selections are just such words and music as are best adapted for use in Sunday Schools, Gospel Meetings, and general Public Worship. The main purpose of a singing school is to educate the young people in music — to teach them to sing from the printed page, to cultivate their voices, and to develop a pure taste; but it should not be forgotten that it furnishes the only means possible for training them to sing in the house of the Lord, and hence much of the music studied (though by no means all of it) should be suitable for that purpose.

Much of the music in this book will also prove useful for concerts, and the educational value of good concerts can not be over estimated. Let some of the pieces be sung by the full school, others by a quartet or double quartet. Other pieces will be better with three voices for each of the outside parts and two voices for each of the inside parts; others should be sung as quartets in the first part, with a semi-chorus for the Refrain or Chorus; and some will be good with a double quartet or semi-chorus in the first part, and the full chorus for the Refrain or Chorus. In a concert program, variety of volume and quality of voices, as well as variety of compositions, should be kept in view; and remember also that a simple piece well sung is always more pleasing to an audience than a mere attempt at a more difficult one. It has also more real artistic value. Intelligent people do not need to be amused at a concert; — their enjoyment of good music is much higher than that; but the singers must be thoroughly familiar with the music, and sing it both fluently and with good and varied expression, before they can really please an audience. Let all the singing be done for the love of good music and with a desire to please, rather than for show. Finally, think of music as a precious gift; use it rightly, and do not fail to thank the Giver.

Praise to Thee.

ISAAC T. PAGE, by per.

1. Praise to Thee, our great Cre - a - tor, Praise to Thee from ev - 'ry tongue; Join, my soul, with ev - 'ry crea- ture, Join the u - ni - ver - sal song.
2. Fa- ther, source of all com-pass- ion, Pure un-bound-ed grace is thine; Hail the God of our sal - va- tion! Praise Him for His love di-vine.
3. For ten thous-and bless-ings giv - en, For the hope of fut- ure joy, Sound His praise thro' earth and heaven, Sound Je - ho- vah's praise on high!
4. Joy - ful - ly on earth a-dore Him, Till in heav'n our song we raise; There en- rap-tured, fall be- fore Him, Lost in won - der, love and praise.

A. J. SHOWALTER.

1. Come, thou Fount of ev - 'ry bless- ing, Tune my heart to sing Thy grace; Streams of mercy, nev - er ceas- ing, Call for songs of loud- est praise.
2. Here I'll raise my Eb - en - ez - er, Hith - er by Thy help, I'm come, And I hope, by Thy good pleasure, Safe - ly to ar - rive at home.
3. O'h, to grace how great a debt - or Dai - ly I'm constrained to be! Let Thy goodness like a fet - ter, Bind my wandering heart to Thee!

Teach me some me - lo- dious son- net, Sung by flam- ing tongues a-bove; Praise the mount—I'm fixed upon it—Mount of Thy re - deem-ing love.
Je - sus sought me when a stran- ger, Wandering from the fold of God, He to res- cue me from dan-ger, In - terposed His pre-cious blood.
Prone to wan- der, Lord, I feel it—Prone to leave the God I love, Here's my heart, oh, take and seal it, Seal it for Thy courts a-bove.

Evening at Home.

A. J. S.

m p m cres.

1. Evening at home, evening at home, What seems so sweet when afar we must roam, What seems so joyful when hither we come? Home, home, sweet, sweet home!
2. Cheerful and bright, cheerful and bright, From the warm hearth glows the ruddy firelight, Shining far out in the dark gloomy night, Home, home, sweet, sweet home!
3. Dear ones are there, dear ones are there, Joy and contentment beam out ev'rywhere, Banish'd is each tho't of sadness and care, Home, home, sweet, sweet home!

If I were a Sunbeam.

A. J. S.

1. If I were a sun-beam, I know what I would do, I'd go in - to the hov- els, All dark with want and woe, All dark with want and woe.
2. Steal-ing in among them, The brightest light I'd shed, Un-til each wea- ry suff'rer, With new hopes raised his head, With new hopes raised his head.
3. And while all looked upward, I there would shine and shine, Until all tho't of heaven, Their own sweet home and mine, Their own sweet home and mine.

The Birds and Flowers.

Mrs. E. W. CHAPMAN. J. H. TENNEY.

1. We love the ti - ny birds that sing, Sweet songs of praise to God; Their ma - tins thro' the wild-wood ring, And e - cho all around.
2. We love the flow'rs in dell and field, In gar - den and in mead; In sum- mer they sweet fragrance yield, Tho' quick a - way they speed
3. We think that Je - sus loves them too, And bids them tell His love; Their mes - sa - ges are bright and new, And guide our tho'ts a-bove.

CHORUS.

We love (we love) the birds and flow'rs, With ge - nial air they come; Give back the hap - py, gold - en hours, And sweet-ly speak of home.

Happy Childhood.

J. C. JOHNSON. Arr. by A. N. JOHNSON, by per.

1. Ah, when in hap - py child-hood, Those fair - y tales were told, Of many a won-drous he - ro, Of tow'rs, and gems, and gold.
2. I lov'd the gor-geous sto - ries, Oh, how I lov'd to hear, When told me by my moth - er, In ac - cents kind and dear.
3. And yet I love to hear them, As in the days gone by, They bring me gold - en mem-'ries, And cheer-ful then I cry:

Gen - tly, gen - tly; Touch us gen - tly, gen - tly, Time; Gen - tly, gen - tly; Touch us gen - tly, Time.
Touch us gen - tly, gen - tly, Time; Touch us gen - tly, Touch us gen - tly, Time; Touch us gen - tly, gen - tly, Time; Touch us gen - tly, gen - tly, Time.

God is Ever Good.

MRS. A. J. SHOWALTER.

1. See the shin - ing dew-drops On the flow - ers strewed, Prov-ing, as they spark- le, God is ev - er good, God is ev - er good.
2. See the morn-ing sun-beams Lighting up the wood, Si - lent - ly pro-claim- ing, God is ev - er good, God is ev - er good.
3. In the leaf - y tree-tops, Where no fears in - trude, Mer - ry birds are sing - ing, God is ev - er good, God is ev - er good.
4. Bring, my heart, thy trib - ute, Song of grat - i - tude, While all na - ture ut - ters, God is ev - er good, God is ev - er good.

Smiles of Home.

A. J. S.

1. Like an - gel eyes they gleam, Gentle smiles, happy smiles, And wake some fai - ry dream, Gentle smiles, hap-py smiles.
2. Ah, how they soothe the heart, Gentle smiles, happy smiles, So free from stud -ied art, Gentle smiles, hap-py smiles.
3. As ach - ing balm they come, Gentle smiles, happy smiles, So pure to ev - 'ry home, Gentle smiles, happy smiles.

Sweet Sabbath Eve.

A. J. S.

pp p cres. dim. m ral - len - tan - do.

1. Sweet Sabbath eve, bright is thy smile, Lin-ger to cheer us a - while; Sweet Sabbath eve, beau - ti - ful ray, Fade not so quickly a - way.
2. Sweet Sabbath eve, hallowed and blest, Bringing the wea- ry one rest; Lin-ger a-while, beau - ti - ful ray, Fade not so quickly a - way.
3. Sweet Sabbath eve, bear on thy wing, Upward the prais-es we sing; Faint-er thy voice, fad - ed thy hue, Gent-ly we bid thee a - dieu.

Gentle Smiles.

1. The sweet young flow'rs of ear - ly spring, Are beau - ti - ful to me; And bright the ma - ny stars that shine, Up - on the calm blue sea;
2. But gen - tle smiles and lov-ing hearts, And hands to clasp my own, Are bet - ter than the brightest flow'rs, Or stars that ev - er shone.
3. The sun may warm the grass to life, The dews the drooping flow'r, And eyes grow bright and watch the light, Of autumn's opening hour;
4. But gen - tle smiles of ten - der-ness, And smiles we know are true, Are warm-er than the sum-mer time, And brighter than the dew.

My Dear Childhood Home.

QUARTET.

1. Many years have gone by since we parted With those of our dear childhood home, But the lov'd ones of old still we cherish, Though far, far away we may roam.
2. There we gather'd around the old hearthstone When day-light had faded away, And with fondest emotions of pleas-ure We sang at our work or our play.
3. There I sat by the side of my mother, And heard her sweet voice as she read From the book which her heart held most sacred: Her hand gently laid on my head.
4. Oh, those bright happy days, gone forever! No more shall my heart beat with joy, At the sights and the sounds of my childhood, With naught of life's cares to annoy.

CHORUS.

Oh, my dear childhood home! Oh, my dear childhood home! How I love to recall the dear faces of all, As we played round our dear childhood home, happy home.

Memory Bells.

JOHN HASKINS. EDWIN MOORE.

With careful expression.

1. Mem'ry bells are ev-er ringing, Toll-ing, toll-ing sad-ly on; To my heart thus ever bringing Songs of days long past and gone; Songs of happy, joyous child-hood,
2. Mem'ry bells! how sweet their chiming, In the hush of twilight eve! All the happy past reviving, Errors, too, for which I grieve. How my tho'ts are backward ranging, rit.

When my heart was light and free, Blithe as birdling in the wild-wood, Trilling forth its melody, Blithe as birdling in the wildwood, Trilling forth its mel -o - dy.
Thro' the vistas of the past, Mem'ry bells say, "I am changing, Life is short! Time 's fleeting fast!" Mem'ry bells say, "I am changing, Life is short! Time 's fleeting fast!"

Waiting At The Door.

E. M.

EDWIN MOORE.

1. In a warm and sun-ny dell, Just be-side a wind-ing stream, Where the dais-ies and the gold-en-rod a-bound, Is a spot re-membered well, And of which I of-ten dream, 'T is the spot where youthful hap-pi-ness I found.

2. I have journeyed far and near, Seen the gay and bu-sy throng, Seeking pleasures at the door of fash-ion's shrine; Yet I fain would drop a tear, As I hear the mer-ry song, For it calls to mind my child-hood-day's lang-syne.

Chorus begin as softly as you can sing the words, and increase a little, gradually, to represent distant music coming nearer.

Gradual increase to here while singing the words.

In humming this tune to end the performance, the Quartet sing only the first "hark." They then remain silent or join the humming. Let the humming diminish from the beginning to the end of the tune, and finally die away with the softest possible breathing of the tones.

Onward Press.

Mrs. E. W. Chapman. Rev. W. S. Martin.

1. On-ward press a lit-tle long-er, Tho' the clouds be-dim the sky, And in Je-sus' grace grow stronger, He to thee is ev-er nigh;
2. Trav-el on a lit-tle long-er, Step by step the nar-row way; Faith in God will make thee stronger, Ev-er keep His love in view:
3. Up-ward climb a lit-tle long-er, Toward the far-off sun-set sky; Cords of love a-round thee stronger Draw thee to the realms on high;

On His arm in weakness rest-ing, He thy rod and staff al-ways, Still His prom-ise sweet-ly test-ing, "Lo, I'm with thee all thy days."
To this bat-tle on-ward press-ing, In Je-ho-vah's might prevail, Thine the vic-t'ry and the bless-ing, Let not then thy cour-age fail.
There be-side the sea of crys-tal, In the El-der Brother's home, Will the mel-o-dy ce-les-tial Grand-ly roll thro' arch and dome.

Refrain.

On-ward press a lit-tle long-er, Sweet shall be thy rest in heav'n; Je-sus love in thee grow stronger, Till a meas-ure full be giv'n.

DUET. May be sung as a Trio.

1. By wa - ters of Bab - y - lon sit - ting for - lorn, We wept bit- ter tears in that day of our scorn,
2. They asked for a song of our dear na- tive land, May skill and Thy cun - ning for - sake thee my hand,
3. On wil - lows of Ba - bel our harps we have hung, They rock to the breez - es neg - lect - ed, un - strung;
4. We sit in the shad - ow heart-wound - ed and sore, And gaze on the wa - ters that foam on the shore,
5. We en - vy the clouds float- ing calm - ly a - bove, And long to take flight on the wings of a dove,

We thought of our Zi - on so far, far a - way, The heath- en and the scoff of the spoil - er and the prey.
If ev - er to please them blas - phe - mers ab - hor'd, Thou dare to wake to mu - sic the harp of the Lord.
And if they re - ech - o 'tis on - ly in sighs, When touched by rag - ing tem - pests while howl - ing thro' the skies.
And en - vy each bil - low that flows to the sea, Be - cause it yet may wan - der, O Zi - on dear, to Thee.
Once more to be-hold ere we rest in the sod, The land of home and kin - dred, the sa - cred city of God.

CHORUS.

O beau- ti - ful Zi - on, dear while a - ges shall roll, Far from Thee, as cap - tives bound, We sit in an- guish of soul;

O beau- ti - ful Zi - on, shall we nev - er more stand On thy walls at e - ven- tide? Thou beau-ti - ful prom- ised land?

132 Love Divine. L. M.

O. W. Holmes. — A. J. Showalter.

1. O Love Divine! that stooped to share Our sharpest pang, our bitterest tear, On Thee we cast each earth-born care, We smile at pain while Thou art near.
2. Tho' long the wea-ry way we tread, And sorrow crown each lingering year, No path we shun, no darkness dread, Our hearts still whispering, Thou art near.
3. When drooping pleasure turns to grief, And trembling faith is changed to fear, The murmuring wind, the quivering leaf, Shall softly tell us Thou art near.
4. On Thee we fling our burdening woe, O Love Di-vine, for ev - er dear; Con-tent to suf-fer while we know, Liv-ing or dy - ing, Thou art near.

Immanuel. L. M.

Ray Palmer. — A. J. Showalter.

1. Oh, sweetly breathe the lyres a-bove, When angels touch the quivering string, And wake, to chant Immanuel's love, Such strains as angel lips can sing!
2. And sweet, on earth, the choral swell, From mortal tongues, of gladsome lays; When pardon'd souls their raptures tell, And, grateful, hymn Immanuel's praise.
3. Jesus, Thy name our souls adore; We own the bond that makes us Thine; And carnal joys, that charm'd before, For Thy dear sake we now re - sign.
4. Our hearts, by dy - ing love sub-dued, Ac - cept Thine offered grace to-day; Beneath the cross, with blood bedewed, We bow, and give ourselves a - way.
5. In Thee we trust,—on Thee re - ly; Though we are feeble, Thou art strong: Oh, keep us till our spir-its fly To join the bright, im-mor-tal throng!

Endless Praise. L. M.

Isaac Watts. — A. J. Showalter.

1. Je - sus shall reign where'er the sun Does his succes-sive jour-neys run; His kingdom stretch from shore to shore, Till moons shall wax and wane no more.
2. For Him shall endless pray'r be made, And endless praises crown His head; His name, like sweet perfume, shall rise With ev-'ry morn-ing sac - ri - fice.
3. Peo-ple and realms of ev - 'ry tongue Dwell on His love, with sweetest song; And infant voi - ces shall pro-claim Their ear-ly bless-ings on His name.
4. Blessings abound where'er He reigns; The prisoner leaps to lose His chains; The wea-ry find e - ter - nal rest, And all the sons of want are blest.
5. Let ev - 'ry crea-ture rise and bring Pe - cu-liar hon-ors to our King; An-gels de-scend with songs a - gain, And earth re - peat the loud A - men!

Isaac Watts. — H. K. Oliver.

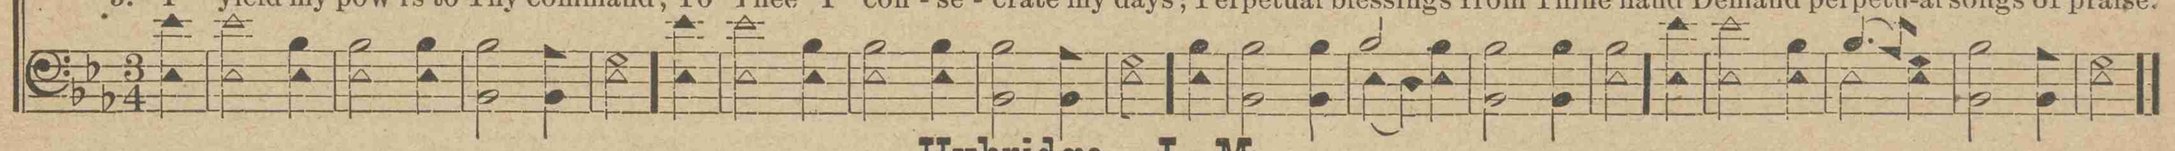

1. When I sur-vey the wondrous cross, On which the Prince of glory died, My rich-est gain I count but loss, And pour con-tempt on all my pride.
2. For - bid it, Lord, that I should boast, Save in the death of Christ, my God; All the vain things that charm me most, I sac - ri - fice them to His blood.
3. See, from His head, His hands, His feet, Sorrow and love flow min-gled down; Did e'er such love and sor-row meet, Or thorns compose so rich a crown?
4. Were the whole realm of na-ture mine, That were a pres-ent far too small; Love so a - maz-ing, so di - vine, De-mands my soul, my life, my all.

Isaac Watts. — Arr. from Bost by Dr. Hastings.

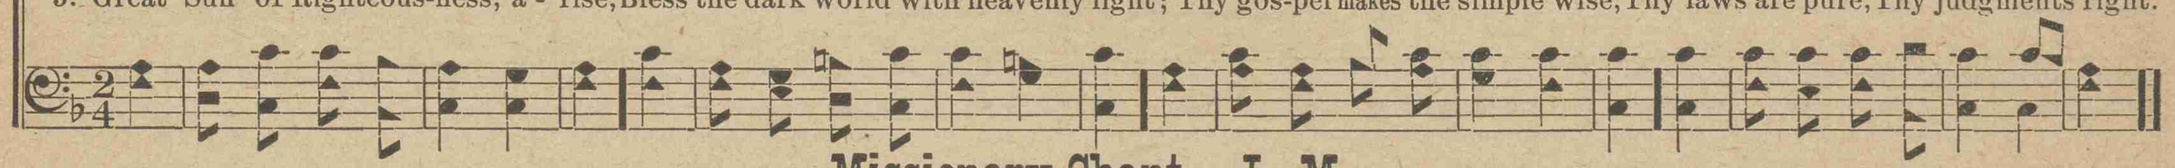

1. My God, how end-less is Thy love! Thy gifts are ev - 'ry eve-ning new; And morning mer-cies from above, Gent - ly dis - til like ear - ly dew.
2. Thou spread'st the curtains of the night, Great Guardian of my sleeping hours; Thy sovereign word restores the light, And quickens all my drowsy pow'rs.
3. I yield my pow'rs to Thy command; To Thee I con - se - crate my days; Perpetual blessings from Thine hand Demand perpetu-al songs of praise.

1. There is a land of pure de-light, Where saints im-mor - tal reign; In - fi - nite day ex-cludes the night, And pleas-ures ban - ish pain.
2. Oh, could we make our doubts re-move, Those gloom-y doubts that rise, And view the Ca - naan that we love, With un - be-cloud - ed eyes;

There ev - er - last - ing spring a - bides, And nev - er with-'ring flow'rs; Death, like a nar - row sea, di-vides This heav'nly land from ours.

ISAAC WATTS. A. J. SHOWALTER.

1. The Lord my Shepherd is, I shall be well supplied; Since He is mine, and I am His, What can I want be - side? What can I want be - side?
2. He leads me to the place Where heav'nly pasture grows, Where living waters gently pass, And full sal - va - tion flows, And full sal - va-tion flows.
3. If e'er I go a-stray, He doth my soul reclaim; And guides me in His own right way, For His most ho - ly name, For His most ho - ly name.
4. While He af-fords His aid, I can-not yield to fear; Tho' I should walk thro' death's dark shade, My Shepherd 's with me there, My Shepherd 's with me there.

CHAS. H. SPURGEON. A. J. SHOWALTER.

1. I will ex - alt Thee, Lord, Thou hast ex - alt - ed me; Since Thou hast silenc'd Sa-tan's boasts, My boast shall be in Thee, My boast shall be in Thee.
2. My sins had brought me near The grave of black de-spair; I looked, but there was none to save, Till I looked up in prayer, Till I looked up in prayer.
3. All thro' the night I wept, But morn-ing bro't re - lief; That hand which broke my bones before, Then broke my bonds of grief, Then broke my bonds of grief.
4. My grief to danc-ing turns, For sackcloth, joy He gives; A moment, Lord, Thine anger burns, But long Thy fa - vor lives, But long Thy fa-vor lives.
5. Sing with me then, ye saints, Who long have known His grace; With thanks recall the season when Ye al - so sought His face, Ye al - so sought His face.

NEW AND POPULAR MUSICAL WORKS

PUBLISHED BY

THE A. J. SHOWALTER COMPANY, DALTON, GA.

Music Publishers, Printers, and dealers in General Musical Merchandise.

Singing School and Convention Books.

GLORIOUS PRAISE.

BY A. J. SHOWALTER and EDWIN MOORE.

This is our latest book for singing schools, conventions and musical societies. It is needless to speak of Mr Showalter's ability in this line of work. Without a superior as a practical teacher, and having held more Normal schools than any other one man, he knows just what is needed by the progressive teachers of the country. Mr. Moore is a musician of ripe scholarship, and his rare ability as a composer is fully demonstrated by the many charming pieces he has contributed to Glorious Praise. 144 large pages. Printed in both round and shaped notes.

Price, 50 cents per copy; $5.40 per dozen.

SINGER'S IDEAL.

BY A. J. SHOWALTER and EDWARD ROBERTS. Assisted by J. H. TENNEY and EDWIN MOORE.

This book contains 224 large pages, 20 of which are given to "New Rudiments of Music," in Mr. Showalter's best style; the remainder contains a greater variety of the best of music than was ever brought together in any one book. This is the verdict of advanced teachers everywhere. Printed in both round and shaped notes, and sold at the low price of 75 cents per copy; $7.50 per dozen.

SHOWALTER'S NEW METHOD.

BY A. J. SHOWALTER.

A most excellent book for teachers who wish a small class book. No other book of its size contains more or better material. Printed in both round and shaped notes.

Price 35 cents per copy; $3.60 per dozen.

NATIONAL SINGER.

BY A. J. SHOWALTER and J. H. TENNEY.

Price 75 cents per copy; $7.50 per dozen.

REGAL SINGER.

BY J. H. SHOWALTER and S. J. PERRY.

Price 50 cents per copy; $5.40 per dozen.

These are two shaped note books that have met with much favor among all classes of teachers who use this particular notation. NATIONAL SINGER has long been a favorite, and is yet as popular as ever. REGAL SINGER is a later book, but bids fair to become equally popular.

Sunday-School and Gospel Song Books.

PERENNIAL SONGS.

BY A. J. SHOWALTER and EDWARD ROBERTS.

This is our latest and best book of the kind. The music and hymns were selected and prepared with the greatest care by two earnest Sunday-school workers, who bring to their work the ripest musical scholarship. They have prepared a book that will last — be a perennial blessing to every Sunday-school that uses it. It has already been used in a great many prominent evangelistic meetings, and the universal verdict is that it is unsurpassed. Printed in both round and shaped notes. Price 35 cts. per copy; $4.00 per dozen. Flexible leather, 75 cts.

Work and Worship.

BY A. J. SHOWALTER and J. H. TENNEY. A hundred thousand copies of this book have been sold, and it is still as popular as ever. Printed in both round and shaped notes. Price 35 cents per copy; $4.00 per dozen.

Glad Evangel.

BY SHOWALTER, EVILSIZER, and PERRY. Round and sh'pd notes. Tag covers, 20 cents per copy; $2.25 per dozen. Board covers, 25 cents per copy; $2.75 per dozen. This, like GLAD EVANGEL NO. 2 (same size, style, and price), by SHOWALTER, EVILSIZER, and MOON, is a very popular small book.

NEW VOICE OF PRAISE.

BY A. J. SHOWALTER, H. A. LEWIS, and Rev. E. A. HOFFMAN. As would be supposed from the authors' names, this is a most excellent collection of Sunday-school and Gospel songs. Both round and shaped notes. Price 35 cents per copy; $4.00 per dozen.

GOOD TIDINGS COMBINED.

BY A. J. SHOWALTER. Price 25 cents per copy; $2.50 per dozen. A wonderfully popular shaped note book. Not new but very good.

"The best selling book of the kind in the United States." — F. H. GILSON CO. (largest music printers in America).

Class, Choir, and Congregation.

By A. J. SHOWALTER.

The best book in the world to harmonize all the musical people of a community. It contains 348 pages of just such music as is most useful and pleasing in Singing Schools, Conventions, Young Men's Christian Associations, Young People's Societies of Christian Endeavor, Epworth Leagues, Sunday Schools, Choirs, Congregations, and all other private or public worship. Hundreds of teachers and thousands of schools and congregations are using it to-day, and will doubtless continue to do so for many years to come. Those who have not used it will do well to examine this book before selecting one for either Class, Choir, or Congregation. Printed in both round and shaped notes. Price 75 cents per copy; $7.50 per doz. Elegant morocco edition, $3.00 per copy.

Miscellaneous Books.

Showalter's Theory of Music.

BY A. J. SHOWALTER.

This is a very plain and practical treatise on Harmony and Composition. Many teachers and students have pronounced it superior to all others for use, either with or without a teacher. Round notes only. $1.00 per copy; $10.00 doz.

True Method for the Reed Organ.

BY A. J. SHOWALTER.

Another practical book from Mr. Showalter's prolific pen. It contains no useless matter, but is made up of just such exercises and studies as are necessary for the most rapid advancem't of the learner, consistent with thoroughness. Also, Waltzes, Songs, etc. Round notes only. $1 per copy; $10 per doz.

People's Anthems.

BY A. J. SHOWALTER and EDW'D ROBERTS. A splendid anthem book for average choirs, and at the very low price of 50 cents per copy; $5.40 per dozen. Both round and shaped notes.

Hymns, Tunes, and Gospel Songs.

BY A. J. SHOWALTER. This book contains all of our great book, CLASS, CHOIR, and CONGREGATION, except the first 80 pages of singing school music. It will at once be seen that it is a great book for Sunday-school and congregational use. Printed in both round and shaped notes. Price 50 cents per copy; $5.40 per doz.

Practical Voice Culture.

BY B. C. UNSELD and A. J. SHOWALTER.

The only first-class book of the kind sold at a low price. Particularly useful in singing schools, high schools, normal schools, and musical societies. Printed in round notes only. Price 35 cents per copy; $4.00 per dozen.

New Songs — Sheet Music.

We are constantly adding to our catalogue, and can fill orders for any piece of sheet music or music book, no matter where published, but desire to call especial attention to the following: —

DAISY DARE. Song and Chorus. By HENRY SCHOELLER.

This is a rare gem — one of the best songs published in a long time. 35 cents per copy.

THREAT'NING GALE. Sacred Song and Chorus. By EDWARD ROBERTS.

All Christian people will be delighted with this excellent composition. 35 cents per copy.

COME AND MEET ME, NORA DARLING. Song and Chorus. By A. J. SHOWALTER.

Never fails to please, either in the parlor or as a popular concert number. 35 cents per copy.

THE RING MY MOTHER WORE. Song and Chorus. By EDWIN MOORE.

This is a tender melody, so well adapted to the beautiful words of this song that it is sure to touch a responsive chord in every heart. 35 cents per copy.

GOOD NIGHT, MY PRETTY ONE. Song and Chorus. By EDWIN MOORE.

Another beautiful composition by the author of "The Ring My Mother Wore." Sure to please everybody who loves the "little ones," and who does not? 35 cents per copy.

JUNEY AT THE GATE. Song and Chorus. By FRANK M. DAVIS.

A sentimental song in the popular vein. Sure to please every lover of this class of music. 35 cents per copy.

THE LILIES IN THE LANE.
WHEN HE KISSED ME BY THE SEA.
ONLY ONE BEAUTIFUL BLOSSOM.

Three new Songs with Chorus. By CHAS. K. LANGLEY.

All are in the best style of this popular composer. 35 cents each.

AT TWILIGHT TIME. Song and Chorus. By A. J. SHOWALTER.

A simple little piece, the words by E. E. REXFORD. Sure to please all who love songs for the people. 30 cents per copy.

SUMMER TIME IN GEORGIA. Duet and Chorus. By EDWARD ROBERTS. Words by F. L. STANTON. 30 cents per copy.

SING ME SOME TENDER STRAIN. Song and Chorus. By WM. BEERY. 35 cts.

When ordering books, or sending your subscription for THE MUSIC TEACHER, please state with each order which notation is wanted.
